Another demand is now to be met
All those tricky riddles didn’t lead you astray
But a new funny game you still have to play!”*

Second Part of the Contest:

From December 20 to January 20, teams are encouraged to produce a creative writing project in English as follows:

1. Imagine the beginning (INCIPIT) of a hypothetical Scientific Essay or, alternatively, of a new Science Fiction Short Story.
2. write your INCIPIT in your best English (Word count from 100 to 250) after considering that:
 1. in a Scientific Essay it is suggested to begin with an attention grabber to attract the reader and give him an idea of the essay’s focus. Then proceed with sentences that lead the reader from your opening to your thesis statement.
 2. you could begin a Science Fiction Story in many different ways: with an action or a dialogue, by asking a question or describing the setting and provide background information, or by letting the main character introduce himself or herself etc. The choice is up to you, let your imagination run free....
3. Read it aloud with clearness and expressive mood... then record it and upload the audio file (mp4) to the Drive folder of your team* before the above deadline.

The final score will be the sum of the points of the first and of the second part.

The Grand Prize

The teams with the best performances will take part in a surprise nice happening in Spring 2019.

* By the beginning of January the school library will invite each team to share a Drive folder
